Stimson Calls for More 1-B Men

AUGUST 1 WILL SEE NEW MOVE TO BOOST ARMY

Routine Duties Will Be Assigned, Freeing 1-A Troops For Fighting

SEVEN DIVISIONS CITED

War Secretary Says More Than Million Will Be Made Available

WASHINGTON, July 3—Moving to "broaden the base of the Army" Secretary of War Stimson announced today that men who have been placed in Class 1-B due to minor physical defects will be inducted for limited military service after August 1.

Stimson explained that this class of men will relieve physically able soldiers from routine duties so they may be placed on more active service. The secretary said he did not know the number of men who will be affected by this action.

"Induction, under the new standards, will be limited to those with minor physical defects who are able to bring to the Army a useful vocation which was followed in civil life," a statement issued by Stimson at his weekly press conference emphasized.

Men Are Classed

Among those now classified as 1-B in the draft registration who will be eligible for duty under the limited service status are the following:

(1) Individuals whose weight and chest circumference are under or over the standard set for 1-A registrants but who are otherwise mentally and physically fit.

(2) Those who have a minimum vision of 20/400 in one or both eyes without glasses, if correctable with glasses to 20-40 in either eye. The loss of one eye, providing such loss was not due to organic change, will not result in the disqualification of an individual.

(3) Men whose hearing in one or both ears is not less than 5/20. Complete deafness in one ear will not result in disqualification, nor will the loss of both external ears, provided the individual has followed a useful vocation in civil life.

(4) Those who had insufficient teeth to qualify for Class 1-A provided the defect is correctable.

(5) Men who have lost an entire thumb on either hand or those who have lost three entire fingers provided the thumb remains.

(6) Men who have lost the great toe, have a hammer toe or webbed foes, provided these defects do not prevent them from wearing a military shoe.

(7) Individuals who have been able to follow useful vocation in civil life despite moderate deformities.

Selective Service officials estimated that there were "well over a million" men classified in 1-B.

CUYAHOGA COUNTY CALLS OFF FAIR SECOND TIME

CLEVELAND, July 3—The 48th annual Cuyahoga county fair will be canceled for the second time in its history because of the "seriousness of the times," it was announced today by Harold P. Richards, president of the Cuyahoga County Agricultural Society.

THEY WANT TO EXECUTE EIGHT NAZI SABOTEURS

Biddle To Demand Firing Squad For Eight; 200,000 Plant Guards Sought

WASHINGTON, July 3 — The Army planned to organize more than 200,000 private plant guards into anti-sabotage patrols today as arrangements were made under personal direction of President Roosevelt to bring the first eight Nazi saboteurs caught to trial before a military commission empowered to send them before a firing squad.

Mr. Roosevelt, in a proclamation, ordered the trial of the eight men to start July 8. They were captured by the FBI after they landed on American shores from German submarines, with enough explosives to blow up aluminum plants and key rail points in an attempt to halt U. S. plane production.

In the proclamation, the President indicated that all spies and saboteurs would be tried in the same manner. Attorney General Francis Biddle, who will head the prosecution of the eight Nazis, is expected to demand the firing squad for them under Article 82 of the articles of war. This article reads:

"Any person who in time of war shall be found lurking or acting as a spy in or about any of the fortifications, posts, quarters, or encampments of the armies of the United States, or elsewhere, shall be tried by a general court martial or by the military commission and shall on conviction thereof, suffer death."

To Add Many Guards

Meanwhile, Lieut. Gen. Brehon B. Somervell, chief of the Army service of supply, ordered civilian plant guards at the nation's 11,000 plants manufacturing war materials to be organized as an auxiliary to the regular Army corps of military police. It was learned that the special guard may total at least 200,000 men, perhaps twice that number.

Gen. Somervell admitted that capture of the eight Nazi saboteurs was responsible for the move. He said:

"The organized infiltration of German saboteurs that was revealed by the recent arrest of eight highly-trained operators brought to our east coast by German submarines has induced the War department to take additional precautions for the protection of war production.

"The arrival of the eight spies and saboteurs equipped with money and explosives and prepared to undertake an extensive and planned program of destruction indicates the eagerness of the axis powers to interrupt our war production."

Each of the auxiliary guard units will be commanded by an Army officer, and specially train-

COUNTY IS FAR FROM ITS QUOTA IN SCRAP DRIVE

Report on the rubber drive in Pickaway county Friday indicates that total collection through filling stations, as of July 1, was 78,474 pounds.

In addition some 100,000 pounds have been consolidated in junk yards in the city and the goal of 160,000 pounds has been reached if both figures are used.

However, official figures in the drive through filling stations are the only ones computed so the county is not half way through its collection yet. The government has extended the drive until July 10 and persons are still asked to take their scrap rubber to filling stations in an effort to increase the pile.

JESSEL'S YOUNG WIFE DISCLOSES SEPARATION

HOLLYWOOD, July 3—Eighteen-year-old Lois Andrews admitted today that she and her husband, Comedian George Jessel, have come to a parting of the ways.

The young wife and mother of a 10-months-old daughter said that although they are living apart, the separation may not lead to a divorce.

Jessel, 44, and Miss Andrews were married in April, 1940, when the bride had just reached her 16th birthday. A daughter was born to them last October.

The comedian formerly was married to Florence Courtney and later to Actress Norma Talmadge.

SINGLE CAST: TWO BASS

COLDWATER, Mich., July 3 — W. C. Stephans, Port William, O., fisherman, guessed today that it must have been luck. For when fishing in a nearby lake, he cast his bait into a bunch of weeds and pulled in two black bass which grabbed the plug at the same time. Both bass weighed five and one half pounds.

War Bulletins

LONDON—Drastic reorganization of the government of India, including the designation of a Moslem as minister of defense, was announced today at India House. Sir Firoz Kahn Noon, former Indian high commissioner in London, was named to the defense post. Gen. Archibald P. Wavell, United Nations commander-in-chief in India, will retain direction of all matters pertaining to actual warfare, the announcement indicated. Two other Indians, Sir Ramiswami Mudaliar, a Hindu, and Maharaja Jam Saheb of Nawanager were named members of the war cabinet.

YOUTHS OF FRANCE MAY MISS MILITARY TRAINING BY WORKING IN GERMANY

VICHY, July 3—The official journal today published a decree authorizing youths of military age who normally would be called to service at this time to forego the required training "if they had intentions to go to work in Germany."

Young men in France now are required to serve in the "Chantiers De La Jeunesse"—which is a substitute for the military service of normal times.

SAFE AND SANE JULY 4 HOLIDAY BEING PREDICTED

Bus Line Asks Patrons To Stay At Home; Fewer Road Mishaps Expected

By International News Service

A safe and sane Fourth of July was in prospect today. Train traffic probably will be the heaviest in years but there is practically no chance of the family heir blowing his finger off with a cannon cracker—there won't be any—and gas and tire rationing are expected to cut the accident toll.

For the first time since its organization, the National Fireworks company reported today

WASHINGTON, July 3—Be patriotic—and stay home on the Fourth of July.

This is the holiday program proposed by Joseph B. Eastman, defense transportation director. Citing the heavy traffic burdens imposed on railroads and bus lines by wartime conditions, and the critical shortage of rubber, Eastman said:

"A patriotic way to observe the Fourth of July this year is to dispense with needless travel."

"no Fourth of July business." One of the major manufacturers of pyrotechnics in bygone years, National has gone into war production entirely since last year.

A spokesman for the company said: "I doubt if anybody has fireworks. Inventories never were very large and the manufacture has been almost entirely discontinued in the last year. It has been slowing down anyway due to the increasing number of states and communities banning the use of fireworks except in licensed

MATURE'S FIRST ROLE IN GUARD IS SUIT MODEL

HOLLYWOOD, July 3—Twenty-four hours after he was sworn into the Coast Guard as a coxswain Victor Mature, he-man screen hero, was to model a new rubber life-saving suit at a hotel swimming pool today as his first chore in the service.

Mature's decision to enlist in the Coast Guard took Hollywood, and his studio in particular, by complete surprise.

The actor took time off from work before the cameras on a half-completed picture to appear at the recruiting office and take the oath along with 18 other recruits.

Coast Guard officials informed the actor's studio that after Mature finishes his modeling stint today, he will be released for a few days to finish his scenes in the picture.

MAN NABBED FOR MENACING TWO FILM FAMILIES

LOS ANGELES, July 3—Accused of threatening the family of Bing Crosby and Harold Lloyd with death unless each sent him $1,000, 24-year-old George Harry Baker, identified as an unemployed truck driver, today was taken into custody by federal agents on attempted extortion charges.

The FBI said the youth admitted sending letters to the film notables threatening to kill Crosby's four sons and Lloyd if the money was not sent to a certain place.

Baker said he came to Los Angeles about six weeks ago from New York City. He was held in the county jail pending filing of charges by U. S. Attorney William Fleet Palmer.

JOHN OWENS RESIGNS

CAMBRIDGE, July 3—John Owens today resigned as president of the Ohio CIO in protest over what he termed CIO President Phillip Murray's "obnoxious attacks on the greatest labor leader of them all," John L. Lewis.

Harry Hopkins, Socialite To Wed In White House

NEW YORK, July 3—Harry Hopkins, lend-lease administrator and President Roosevelt's closest confidante, and Mrs. Louise Gill Macy, New York socialite and fashion authority, are to be married soon, probably on July 30 at the White House.

This was disclosed today by Mrs. Macy.

Mrs. Macy said no definite date had been set for the nuptials but July 30 was a likely date.

Mrs. Macy, known to her intimates as a "career girl," said she and Hopkins had been engaged about a month.

"The wedding will be in the White House, probably on July 30," said the socialite.

She added that she wasn't certain about honeymoon plans, explaining:

"I hope Mr. Hopkins can get away for a week. That will be our honeymoon."

It was understood that only a few close friends of the principals would be present at the wedding ceremony.

EAGLESON WINS RATION OFFICE

Executive Clerkship Will Pay $1,620; Aides Will Be Appointed By OPA

J. O. Eagleson, North Pickaway street, was appointed Friday by the regional Office of Price Administration as executive manager of the Pickaway county rationing office in City Hall. His salary will be $1,620.

Mr. Eagleson, former Circleville school superintendent, is clerk of the city board of education. He intends to retain this post.

Under the new program Mr. Eagleson will have clerks working under him in a central office for the entire county to handle all rationing work.

No clerks, except Mrs. Leona Riegel, have been named, but two additional employees are expected to be hired. They are to be wives of men in service or of men who are certain to be in the Army before long.

SUNDAY SCHOOL CONFAB WILL DRAW 2,000 HERE

Two thousand persons are expected to move into the Mount of Praise campground, East Ohio street, Saturday to participate in the annual Sunday School convention of the Churches of Christ in Christian Union of Ohio.

The event begins at 9 a. m. and continues through the day, the highlight to be at 1 p. m. when a gigantic songfest will be conducted.

BIG RAF FORCE BOMBS BREMEN

Five Raids Recorded Within Month; London Indicates Over 300 Planes Used

LONDON, July 3—Lethal explosives from British bombing planes crashed down on the great German port and naval base of Bremen for the fifth time within a month last night when the Royal Air Force hammered northwest Germany.

The attacking force was described by the air ministry as "powerful," but the actual number of the planes participating was not revealed.

Many large fires were started in the target areas, it was said.

The official communique said that 13 of the British bombers failed to return from the attack which was carried out under weather conditions described as "good."

The German radio acknowledged that "a town in northwest Germany" had been bombed during the night but said that the raid was "without effect."

The loss of 13 British planes would indicate that a force of at least 300, and possibly more, took part in the Bremen raid. This is based in proportionate percentage losses during previous large-scale RAF assaults.

A total of 52 craft was lost when more than 1,000 planes attacked "queen city" of the Reich exactly a week ago.

The continued pounding of Bremen marks a high point in the British plan to completely level all war production factories in every industrial center of the Reich.

The first large-scale attack in the recent campaign against Bremen was made June 4. The assault by more than 1,000 planes last Thursday night was followed by one on Saturday and another again Sunday.

U. S. NEWSMEN, OTHERS TOLD TO QUIT VICHY

LONDON, July 3 — The Rome radio, according to the London Evening Standard, said today that foreign and Jewish newspaper men had been ordered by the French government to leave Vichy. The order, it was said, particularly affects American newsmen.

PLANES FILL ROLE

Russians Launch New Counter Offensive Near Kharkov

CAIRO, July 3—Hurled back between three and four miles by a swift, savage British thrust, the axis army of Field Marshal Erwin Rommel was reformed today for a renewal of major offensive action against El Alamein.

By International News Service

British Eighth Army has stopped the headlong drive of axis Panzer divisions into Egypt and sent the enemy reeling back in retreat.

"A general attack on El Alamein on July 2 was repulsed," the middle east high command announced today. "The enemy suffered losses and withdrew to the west. British positions remain intact."

This brief communique was the first definitely encouraging report from British headquarters since Nazi Field Marshal Erwin Rommel battered down the defenses of Tobruk nearly two weeks ago and launched the spectacular smash which carried nearly 350 miles towards Alexandria and Suez.

But in the last 48 hours the confident axis hordes have beaten futilely at the imperial defense line stretching 35 miles across a narrow desert pass. The reinforced Eighth Army, deployed from the coastal escarpment at El Alamein south to the edge of the impassable Qattara marshes, has amply justified the strategy of Gen. Sir Claude Auchinleck who took over active command June 25 when Rommel's tank columns rumbled

BERLIN, July 3—(By Official German Wireless) — The German high command claimed today that axis forces "in a widening gap" have broken through British positions around El Alamein and stormed a number of strongly fortified positions. It was claimed that more than 2,000 British soldiers were taken prisoner and 30 guns and many tanks captured.

ROBINSON CHILD FIRST OF MONTH IN CIRCLEVILLE

A boy born shortly after 1 p. m. Friday in Berger hospital to Mr. and Mrs. Richard Robinson, 102 Reber avenue, is Circleville's first July infant.

The father is an employe of the Third National bank, while the mother is the former Gladys Steenrod.

Under rules of the contest only babies born in Circleville to Circleville parents are eligible for awards.

Gifts for the baby and his parents include:

A $1 J and J baby gift set by the Mykrantz drug store.

A floral tribute by Brehmer greenhouses.

A carton of six 60-watt lamps by the Columbus and Southern Ohio Electric company.

A quart of milk free for two weeks by the Blue Ribbon dairy.

A $1 savings account in the Circleville Savings and Banking company.

across the Libyan border and drove deep into Egypt.

Strong Position Taken

He fought only rearguard actions while the main body of his army withdrew to the positions he had chosen to fight the decisive battle for Egypt. Meantime reinforcements were called in from the middle east, and every available fighter plane and bomber and tank was rushed to Egypt to strengthen his weary, battered forces.

At one stage of the fighting yesterday British columns got through the axis lines near the Qattara marsh and attacked the enemy's flank and rear. Reports reaching Cairo said the British were attacking "with everything they have."

The surprise British maneuver was effected just as German General Field Marshal Erwin Rommel, the wily "desert fox" commander of Hitler's Afrika Korps, began a second large-scale attack against British positions at the northern end of the 35-mile desert defense line.

Gen. Auchinleck, commander of all British forces in the middle east, through this move appeared to have caught Rommel unawares. By doing a little "foxing" himself, Gen. Auchinleck placed his forces in an advantageous position for the initial assault on the axis rear.

The British commander timed his attack to an hour when Rommel was most likely to strike, late in the afternoon when the sun shone in the eyes of Gen. Auchinleck's defense forces. By swinging part of his army to Rommel's rear Auchinleck forced the Germans and Italians to fight with faces turned to the sun.

Defense forces based on El Alamein stood fast in the face of the renewed axis attack and sent out a terrific barrage of artillery fire as the British flanking forces, strong equipped with every type of weapon, began a full-scale attack at Rommel's rear.

The Royal Air Force, its ranks augmented by units of the United States Army Air Corps, brought into use every available plane to assist the defending ground forces.

Huge American-made Boston bombers, as well as Liberators (Consolidated B-24's) and Wellingtons, worked overtime bombing axis motorized transport columns and troops concentrations. The air assaults were reported to be having a telling effect on the enemy.

Dive Planes Used

Kittyhawks wrought havoc through dive-bombing attacks in the axis line, throwing many of the troops into panic by repeated poundings.

Attacks by air against axis bases ranged all the way to Benghazi in Libya and German airfields on the island of Crete where thousands of parachutists are concentrated. Bases at Derna and the captured port of Tobruk have suffered heavily through week-long bombings on a scale heretofore unknown in the North Africa area.

Airdromes and shipping in the Mediterranean also have tasted the sting of the United Nations airpower during raiding likened to the large-scale 1,000-plane assaults which Britain had inflicted on Germany.

At Benghazi alone during one raid several thousands of tons of high explosives were dropped every 30 feet along the water front.

The axis report on the battle of Egypt was limited to the lame and laconic Italian claim that "operations are developing favorably eastward of El Alamein."

It was a generally encouraging day for the United Nations, battling grimly and desperately on all fronts. The RAF again bombed Bremen with "a powerful force" and started large fires in this oft-bombed port. The admitted loss of 13 planes indicated that at least 300, possibly more, participated in the raid. It was the fifth assault on Bremen in less than a month.

Reds in Counter Drive

On the Russian front the Soviets have launched "an exceptionally vigorous counter-attack southeast of Kharkov in the direction of Budyenovka, the Vichy radio reported. The Russian communique, which seldom heralds its own offensives until they are well under way, made no mention of this, but still disputed Nazi claims that Sevastopol has fallen.

Fighting still goes on in the streets of the wrecked Crimean port, the Soviet communique declared. Other heavy battles were under way at Kursk, Byelgorod and Volchansk, and everywhere the Red army held firm against the Nazi assaults.

A bombing raid on Dilli, on the island of Timor, was the only action reported from Gen. Douglas MacArthur's headquarters. The airdrome and radio station were damaged and large fires started.

Dilli, located on the northern shore of the island, is approximately 400 miles northwest of Darwin, Australian north coast base. It is one of the most important enemy supply depots in this area.

SOLONS ENGAGE IN BITTER TILT OVER FARM ACT

WASHINGTON, July 3 — The most bitter deadlock in years gripped Congress today as the Senate, charging it has been "insulted" by the House, tabled the $680,000,000 agriculture bill and jeopardized the payroll due 81,000 employes next Wednesday.

Leaders of the powerful House farm bloc, whose resolution to provide continuing funds for the agriculture department and temporarily maintain parity farm prices was rejected by the upper chamber, replied shortly:

"It's up to the Senate."

CANAL DISTRICT ESPIONAGE HIT BY ARMY ACTION

CARRIBEAN DEFENSE HEADQUARTERS, Canal Zone, July 3 — Intelligence officers charged with protecting the Panama Canal against sabotage and ferreting out subversive activities in the Canal Zone pressed their search today for accomplices who may have escaped the net of United States officials who smashed a spy ring known to have consisted of at least 20 persons.

Lieut. Gen. Frank Andrews, commander of the Caribbean area, warned that enemies of the United States undoubtedly have others in the field to continue the operations of the 20 persons already taken into custody.

Announcement of the break-up of the huge spy ring brought with it revelations more startling than any fictional thriller on international intrigue.

Among the pawns of the ringleaders were night club hostesses used to pry information from unsuspecting sailors and laborers. Their methods of attempting to destroy those who might disclose their activity to authorities included the poisoning of liquor to be drunk by their intended victim.

Principal among the activities of the subversive gang was the fueling of axis submarines which have been attacking United Nations shipping.

STEPHAN GUILTY OF GIVING HELP TO NAZI AVIATOR

DETROIT, July 3—Found guilty of treason in connection with the escape from a Canadian prison camp of a German flyer, Max Stephan, 49, German-born restaurant proprietor and a naturalized American, today awaited the sentence which will be imposed by Federal Court Judge Arthur J. Tuttle.

The judge, after hearing the verdict of the jury of six men and six women, referred the case to the probation department and indicated he would pass sentence within a week. Punishment for treason ranges from five years to death.

A federal grand jury indictment charged Stephan with entertaining Oberleutenant Hans Peter Krug, 22, who escaped from a Canadian prison camp and made his way to Detroit. The indictment charged also that Stephan gave the Nazi money and found him shelter. Krug was later captured in San Antonio, Tex., and returned to Canada.

'JONAH', TORPEDOED FIVE TIMES, WILL TRY SIXTH

BOSTON, July 3—A professed "Jonah," who has been torpedoed five times, today began to hanker again for the wide open seas.

He is Bill Wall, a 34-year-old Londoner, who explained that "generally they give up after the fifth sinking but I think I'll have another go at it. Maybe after the sixth I'll retire."

Last time he signed for a trip he warned: "I've been torpedoed four times in this war. I'm a Jonah. I'll bet this ship gets knocked off."

It did, two nights later, and he was adrift five days before being rescued.

public display and I doubt if there is much of that this year."

And to make it official, Major General Thomas A. Terry, commandant of the Second Corps Area warned that fireworks displays in the dimout zone along the east coast would be a direct violation of Army regulations. He added such displays and large gatherings of Fourth of July celebrants offered opportunity for token air raids and saboteurs to cause confusion and possible damage.

Gotham Clamps Down

Acting on General Terry's warning, Mayor F. H. La Guardia ordered police to arrest all persons selling fireworks in the city and Governor Herbert H. Lehman asked all cities in the state to cooperate.

The travel picture had several angles. So far as New York City and its suburbs were concerned, automobile travel was out. There just wasn't any gas. The Atlantic states, generally, felt the pinch of gas rationing and the rest of the country was saving its tires.

The Greyhound bus lines, largest operators, flatly advised prospective bus travelers in paid advertisements "don't make bus trips during this holiday if you can avoid it."

Railroads were swamped with last-minute ticket seekers but their chances of getting extra accommodations were low.

The Pennsylvania railroad reported that holiday travel probably would be "the biggest on record" for a Fourth of July and that Pullman accommodations and reserved seats in coaches had been sold out two weeks ago."

The railroads will not run as many extra trains as in former years, but a few more cars will be added to every train. Some commuter cars will be shifted to longer hauls and an attempt will be made to carry everybody who wants to travel.

The railroad rush starts tonight and one railroad man said "by 6:30 tonight Grand Central station and Pennsylvania station ought to be crowded as they never have been before."

One optimistic anticipation was a lessening in road accidents for Fourth of July customarily produces a heavy death and injuries toll but tire and gas rationing are expected to cut it sharply.

With fireworks also out of the picture, this may be the safest and sanest Fourth the nation has seen in years.

OTTAWA — Every Canadian man, woman and child faces payment of $174 in taxes this year by virtue of a measure which was adopted by the House of Commons last night in a vote of 129 to 8. Taxes to be levied throughout the dominion will total two billion dollars. Balance of the money needed for the Canadian war effort will be raised by domestic loans.

MEXICO CITY — The entire gulf coast area was under strict military control today following a decree by President Avila Camacho declaring the states of Tamaulipas and Yucatan a military zone. The area will be under command of former President Abelardo Rodriguez.

CHICAGO—Maj. Gen. George Grunert, commanding the Army Sixth Corps area, today issued a statement warning against any relaxation of precautions against sabotage in the vast war plants in the three states of his command over the Fourth of July holiday.

FIRE DESTROYS FACTORY BUSY IN WAR EFFORT

PHILADELPHIA, July 3 — Fed by stores of naphtha, fire following a terrific explosion early today wrecked the war production plant of Hagan Frith & sons in nearby Abington township.

Police said the blast let loose while seven employes on the night shift were eating luncheon in a nearby field. The men reported that their first indication of the explosion came when they heard a roar and saw the roof of the one-story building lift up and settle.

Hagan Frith, the owner, said he believed the fire began with a short circuit. The blaze burned the structure to the ground and flames painted the sky with a glare which attracted thousands of motorists to the scene.

The firm was once engaged in processing rubber formerly used in making the cores of golf balls. More recently the plant, a small one, has been operating on war contracts of an unidentified nature, it was said.

ADMIRAL HART RETIRED

WASHINGTON, July 3—The Navy announced today that Admiral Thomas C. Hart, commander-in-chief of the Asiatic fleet, has been placed on the retired list and Vice Admiral Royal E. Ingersoll, commander-in-chief of the Atlantic fleet, has been advanced to the rank of admiral.

ed not only to watch for sabotage, but in warfare tactics to resist any possible attempt to attack on American plants.

To Be Taken To Capital

All of the information obtained from the eight saboteurs has been turned over to the military. The eight men are expected to be brought to Washington soon to face their trial for life or death.

The eight are Ernest P. Burger, 36; George John Dasch, 30; Hermann Neubauer, 32; Werner Thiel, 35; Edward J. Kerling, 33; Richard Quirin, 34; Henry H. Heinck, 35; and Robert Haupt, 22.

Burger and Haupt are naturalized American citizens. But President Roosevelt closed the door to any appeal by them to civil courts when he denied the right of such an appeal to "all enemies" who have entered the United States since outbreak of the war for the purpose of committing hostile acts against the government.

Mr. Roosevelt named the following seven-man commission to try them: Maj. Gen. Frank R. McCoy, Maj. Gen. Blanton Winship, Maj. Gen. Walter S. Grant, Maj. Gen. Lorenzo Gasser, Brig. Gen. Guy V. Henry, Brig. Gen. John T. Lewis, and Brig. Gen. John T. Kennedy.

Maj. Gen. McCoy, who will preside at the trial, also was a member of the court martial which tried Gen. William (Billy) Mitchell more than a decade and a half ago. Gen. Winship, also on the commission, was the law member of the Mitchell court.

Defense Lawyers Named

Attorney General Biddle and Judge Advocate General Myron Cramer, were ordered by the President to prosecute the eight Nazis. Col. Cassius Dowell and Col. Kenneth Rayall were assigned by the White House to act as defense counsel.

It was believed significant that Mr. Roosevelt set July 8 for the trial. It indicated he would demand quick trials and speedy justice for all spies and saboteurs. The President reserved right to pass on the decision of the military commission.

A Boston preparatory school has asked the parents of its day pupils to restrict them to one helping of dessert. Who says we are not suffering hardships?

OPEN LETTERS

TO MOTORISTS

DRIVERS: Parade of last-fling drivers will jam the nation's highways over the Fourth of July. Threat of nationwide gasoline rationing, plus the long holiday week end, will prompt motorists by the thousands to make that trip to Aunt Minnie's, to visit the boy in camp, or to see Susie's new baby while they still have the chance. Added to these last-fling pleasure drivers will be a legion of war plant workers who will stay on the job this Fourth of July, many of whom will be driving to and from work. Contrary to general expectations, the net result will be a traffic volume only slightly less than in normal years. Nationwide campaign is launched against accidents that will result from the heavy traffic and other recreational activities. The need for a safe celebration of the Fourth is especially acute this year since every accident wastes manpower, time and material vital to victory. Motorists are urged to forego all unnecessary driving over the holiday as a patriotic way of cooperating in the government's program to conserve tires and relieve congestion. For those who feel they must use their cars, slower speeds and unusual caution, both to conserve rubber and to avoid accidents that are so costly this year to the individual and the war effort alike are urged. The public is being asked to contribute to the safe celebration of the Independence Day holiday by being extra alert for the hazards of motoring, swimming, fireworks and other recreational activities — all the ingredients of the "accidents that help the Axis."

CIRCUITEER.

TO CIVIC CLUBS

GROUPS: Program for the entertainment of soldiers, to be brought to the city soon as a part of the government's repair project, has been started with the cooperation of most of the churches and civic bodies. The project is a worthy one and deserves the full support of all citizens. Plans are in the making for establishing Memorial hall as a center for the recreation and as the program gets further under way all residents will be asked to do their part in maintaining a series of affairs for the new detachment. Present work on the project is commendable and every person in the community is waiting to receive word on the arrival of the group, which will mark Circleville's first Army camp. Value of offering diversion for Army men has never been over-estimated, and the local set-up can be made into a splendid organization for the city with the cooperation of all groups and citizens.

CIRCUITEER.

TO WEATHERMAN

SIR: Daily outbursts from the clouds are not welcomed in this area, right now, with farmers doing their best to complete harvesting before the labor situation becomes too acute. Destruction of county crops has been serious and widespread and the last week has brought enough of the storms to last a long time. Creeks have raised so that fishermen can not spend their idle moments in a pleasant pastime; roads have been washed out; houses have been hit with lightning; fields have been flooded and acres of valuable crops ruined. The only benefit seems to be cooling of temperatures that is greatly welcomed by all, but not at the expense of all this damage.

CIRCUITEER.

TO SHOW SOCIETY

MEN: Circleville and Pickaway county generally agree that you did the proper thing this week when you called off the 1942 Pumpkin Show. Many persons have been heard to express satisfaction that you took such action, while only a few have declared the show should have been staged. During the next few months large quotas of draftees will be taken out of the district, many have already gone into Uncle Sam's service; shortage of wire needed for conduct of the show is admitted, shortage of tires and the possibility of gasoline rationing are detrimental to success of the undertaking, so all in all, I believe you did the finest thing possible in the interest of the war effort. Possibly, the show can be conducted in 1943; maybe not, but I feel certain that Pickaway county will do the best it can to help Uncle Sam and cancellation of the Pumpkin Show is just one of its ways of showing its patriotism.

CIRCUITEER.

TO ALL OF US

CITIZENS: Hardly a day passes that some new rumor fails to go the rounds, and draft rules, regulations and quotas seem to be the principal objects of discussion. I admit that changes in rules and laws from time to time cause some persons to be confused, but there is no basis for the foolish reports that are circulated by one person and then another concerning the various processes of Selective Service. If every one would resolve to refrain from repeating anything that he hears concerning draft laws and the board's various quotas the situation will be considerably eased.

CIRCUITEER.

TO EAST ENDERS

FOLK: Another dog poisoner is on the loose in your district, and at least one fine dog has been poisoned. A couple of years ago a similar person destroyed several splendid pets in the north end of the city. I hope that some day some one with some backbone catches a dog poisoner. A few solid punches in the nose might break up this menace. In my estimation there is no one quite so low as a dog poisoner.

Fourth of July Deaths And Accident Hazards

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

THE FOURTH of July is still a day of some danger and in spite of the long campaign by the medical profession, constant warnings to people of possible dangers and the regulations imposed by certain communities against the sale of various fireworks, we still have a death and accident toll.

Dr. Clendening will answer questions of general interest only, and then only through his column.

In fact, in 1941 we had more deaths than in 1940. There were eleven deaths due to fireworks and explosive injuries in 1941 as against eight in 1940. It is true that this is an improvement over other recent years. There were thirteen deaths in 1939, eighteen in 1938 and twenty in 1937.

Deaths, however, are not the only serious hazard. In 1941 there were nine people who had a loss of vision in one or both eyes; there were 141 people who had injuries to the eye; 17 people lost either a finger or a hand or other members and 91 people had some serious internal injury.

Preventing Lockjaw

The most frequent cause of death in other years was from lockjaw. This has been almost entirely eliminated, partly due to the fact that there are almost no horses around any more and tetanus is an inhabitant of the intestines of horses. There was one death from tetanus in 1941. This followed eight days after a firecracker wound in the leg.

Tetanus anti-toxin administration was given as soon as the diagnosis was made but the patient died. This is the usual history; if the tetanus anti-toxin is not given until the symptoms occur, it seldom saves life. The lesson again is to use tetanus toxoid or anti-toxin immediately after the injury in the case of any open firecracker wound, no matter how trivial it may seem.

Once more the lesson is evident that communities in which there is strict enforcement concerning the sale and regulation of fireworks are those in which Fourth of July injuries are reduced to a minimum. The soft-hearted attitude that "little boys should have their fun" and that no restrictions should be placed upon the use of high explosives and elaborate night fireworks simply means a certain amount of permanent disability with the possible danger of such a tragedy as blindness.

Strict Enforcement

Legislation alone is not enough; it must be followed up by strict enforcement. In New Jersey, for instance, which was one of the first states to adopt adequate legislation for the restriction of fireworks, there was a steady rise in the number of accidents, due to a laxity in enforcement of the law, until last year when this was brought to a striking and sudden stop. The result was attributed to press releases, to an embargo placed on all shipments of fireworks into that state and to the effectiveness with which the new law was enforced not only in New Jersey but also in the neighboring state of New York.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

B. W.:—How would essential hypertension be defined?

Answer: Essential hypertension is high blood pressure in which no condition in the kidney can be found which would cause it.

R. L.: Can a woman at the age of 66 get tuberculosis?

Answer: Cases of acquired tuberculosis are very rare in adults and at the age of 66 I would say such infection never occurs.

C. E. L.: Are doses of fifteen drops of iodine, if taken over a long period of time, harmful for an inward goiter?

Answer: I do not believe that iodine should be taken over a longer period than ten days because it is capable of causing a very severe skin eruption. It does no harm to take it for ten days and then rest ten days and then continue again.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Dr. Clendening has seven pamphlets which can be obtained by readers. Each pamphlet sells for 10 cents. For any one pamphlet desired, send 10 cents in coin, and a self-addressed envelope stamped with a three-cent stamp, to Dr. Logan Clendening, in care of this paper. The pamphlets are: "Three Weeks' Reducing Diet", "Indigestion and Constipation", "Reducing and Gaining", "Infant Feeding", "Instructions for the Treatment of Diabetes", "Feminine Hygiene" and "The Care of the Hair and Skin".

Romance Thumbs a Ride

by ALLEN EPPES

RELEASED BY CENTRAL PRESS ASSOCIATION

SYNOPSIS

DIAN WESTON, an Ardendale girl, who has just been jilted, more or less accidentally meets

BILL ROLLINS, New York artist, who has just been jilted also, by an Ardendale girl,

CLAIRE LESTER. Claire has turned down Bill, saying that she has discovered she loves

PAUL PETERS, a local boy, who is now an engineer.

YESTERDAY: The four young people start to drive back to Ardendale.

CHAPTER SEVENTEEN

IT WAS almost 1 o'clock in the morning when Paul drove his car into Ardendale.

"There's an all-night garage over there," said Bill. "Let me out, Peters, and I'll see about getting my car fixed right away."

"I'll get out, too," said Dian. "I could do with a little walking. Besides, it's out of your way, Paul, to take me home."

"Not at all," Paul protested. "I'll be glad to."

"Never mind," Bill said. "I'll walk Dian home. Besides, I'm sure you and Claire want to be alone."

"Don't be silly" said Claire.

"Well, you've got to reorganize your plans, mustn't you?"

"We've got a week in which to do that."

"That's what you think, my darling," said Paul. "Okay, Dian, since Bill's going to see you to the house. I'll let you out. Take good care of her, Bill—she's Ardendale's pride and joy."

"And future spinster," laughed Dian.

She and Bill got out, and stood in front of the garage until Claire and Paul had driven off. Bill then went in to tell the garage man where to find his car.

"And," he said, "I hope you'll be able to supply a spring in the place of the one I cracked."

"I'll try, sir," the man said. "Can't make any promises, however."

"Now," said Bill, taking Dian's arm, "which direction?"

Dian smiled. "That's twice you've asked that question tonight," she said.

"Yes, so it is. I don't seem to know just where I'm going, it would seem."

"Nor do I." Dian was thoughtful for a moment. "But I guess there are lots of people in the same fix nowadays."

"Anyway, it's been fun," said Bill as they turned into Dian's street, "not knowing just where I was going tonight. That is, after you walked into my life."

"I'd hardly say I walked into it," Dian said. "Battered would be the better word." She pointed. "Maybe in years to come there'll be a notice on that elm tree, telling how a certain young man nearly found himself hanging from one of its limbs."

"And the picture of a shoe on the notice, with the inscription, 'This is the shoe that started it all.'" Bill glanced toward the house from which Dian had run away only a few hours before. "What do you suppose your Aunt Martha thought when she found your note?"

"That's hard to say," Dian replied. "However, she evidently thought it unnecessary to come out for me tonight. She hates driving, and she could never persuade Miss Aggie to drive her out to the farm."

"What about this banker person you were telling me about? Couldn't she have asked him to come out for you?"

"She could have, yes. In fact, I've had a feeling that's what she would do. And Jerome might have consented, if the weather had been different."

"You don't mean to tell me he would let a little thing like a thunderstorm keep him from the girl he wants to marry!"

"I mean just that! You don't know Jerome."

They were now at Dian's front gate. They stood in silence for a time, as if reluctant to bring their adventure to an end. Dian, glancing at Bill, as he gazed across the well-kept yard, found herself wondering again just what the outcome of tonight's adventure would be. Would this charming man there with her finally carry Claire Lester back to New York with him—to share the life he led up there? Was this moment with Bill Rollins beside her front gate to be something for her collection of memories, and nothing else? Questions . . . Questions . . . Questions. All of them making her feel a strange sense of of sadness, of futility, and none of them having any answers.

"I'm sorry I can't ask you in," she said presently. "But the hour is late, you know."

"Yes," said Bill, "but you could ask me to call at a later date, couldn't you?"

"Of course," said Dian. "Come to see me, by all means." She had a sudden idea. "If I can get our old bus to go, I'll drive out to the farm tomorrow. Would you like to come along? You could see those paintings, you know."

"You bet I'd like to come along!" Bill said. "What time?"

"That depends on 'Betsy'," said Dian. "Betsy's the car."

"I'll telephone you from the hotel," Bill said. "Ten o'clock too early?"

"No, not at all." Dian held out her hand. "I'll be expecting to hear from you. Good night, Bill — and thanks for everything."

"Thank you," Bill said. He held Dian's hand in a firm clasp. "Want me to stick around until you see how your aunt receives you?"

Dian laughed. "No, thanks," she said. "I've faced her under more difficult circumstances than these, I'll manage."

"Good night, Dian."

"Good night, Bill."

Still feeling the hard-to-describe sense of sadness and futility, Dian let herself into the house. She went up the stairs as quietly as possible, and entered her room. She switched on the light, and was surprised to see the note to her aunt still leaning against the dresser mirror where she had left it. Good heavens, she thought, hadn't Aunt Martha gotten home yet? A little panic of fear gripped her, and she stepped down the hall to her aunt's room. She stood listening, and then opened the door very carefully. The moonlight lay across her aunt's bed, and across her aunt, who was apparently sleeping soundly. Well, of all things! After all her planning and everything. Aunt Martha hadn't even taken the trouble to look in on her—to come to her room to see if she was in bed!

She went back to her room and undressed. She had just gotten into bed when there was a tap at the door.

"Yes?" she said.

"It's Aunt Martha, Dian. May I come in?"

"Yes, of course."

Miss Martha, wrapped in a quilted dressing-gown, opened the door and padded across the room.

"I thought I heard you stirring around," she said, seating herself upon the side of the bed. "I didn't wake you when I came in. It was so quiet in here, I decided you were sound asleep."

"That was thoughtful of you, Aunt Martha," said Dian, glad that she had thought to tear up the note she had left. "Did you have a nice time at the meeting?"

"Up until one or two women began to pump me about you," Miss Martha replied. "That's what I want to talk to you about."

"Not now, please, Aunt Martha. Why, it's morning!"

"Never mind that," said Miss Martha. "I saw Jerome Carr tonight."

"Where?"

"He dropped into the meeting. You know, he gave a whole case of wool for our knitting, and he just wanted to see how things were going."

"He would," said Dian. "I hope you didn't discuss me with him."

One-Minute Test

1. What state was the first to enter the Union after the adoption of the Constitution?
2. Which is the Sooner state?
3. What was George Washington's middle name?

Words of Wisdom

A smile is the color which love wears, and cheerfulness, and joy—these three. It is the light in the window of the face, by which the heart signifies to father, husband or friends, that it is at home and waiting.—Henry Ward Beecher.

Hints on Etiquette

Don't go to a first-class restaurant to look for cheap dishes—bargains. A good restaurant caters to fastidious eaters who care more for the quality of the food than for the price. There are bargain restaurants just as there are bargain basements.

Today's Horoscope

If your birthday is today you are sincere, independent, have an alert, intuitive mind, and a charming nature which attracts the opposite sex. You are a good conversationalist and often impulsive in action. Cheerful, happy domestic conditions or marriage or "happy events" are prophesied for you in the next 12 months. You will also gain through military matters or women generally. Business will prosper, but you should watch correspondence. Born on this date a child, while being fortunate in many ways, including marriage, will be inclined to worry and be over-anxious. The disposition will be kind, thoughtful and inoffensive.

One-Minute Test Answers

1. Vermont.
2. Oklahoma.
3. He had no middle name.

WORLD AT A GLANCE .....

—By—
Charles P. Stewart

WHEN WE and the British establish our continental European front, who's to be its generalissimo?

Under our system, Franklin D. Roosevelt, as president of the United States, is our armed forces' commander-in-chief. The British system is like ours, with the chieftainship vested in John Bull's prime minister, Winston Churchill at present.

Charles P Stewart

There'll have to be a field commander, however, to launch and direct the new joint land campaign. We and our allies didn't have one during our participation in World War I, and our lack of unity seriously hampered our combined effort against the kaiser. Our own and Britain's combatant leaders didn't conflict with one another. They were very co-operative instead. Still, neither one gave all-around orders or accepted total responsibility. Finally Marshal Foch gravitated virtually into the job, but the arrangement never was overly satisfactory and its weakness doubtless considerably delayed the finish.

President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill, as commander-in-chief, aren't professional fighting men, in the sense of directing troops in action.

Their partnership stunt is international grand strategy, including diplomacy and lots of other details, besides advancing and maneuvering and occasionally falling slightly backward at just the right minute. These things have to be decided on upon darned short notice, and a field commander is materially handicapped if he can't order 'em without delaying to consult a colleague.

Selection of a candidate to attend to this unified job presumably was minutely discussed by President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill during their recent confab in Washington.

What the Russians and Chinese think on the subject doesn't greatly matter.

Naturally they want a competent Anglo-American choice made, because their own chances will depend on it. There won't be any personal jealousies between them and ourselves, though. The Russians have their own particular front and the Chinese have theirs. Furthermore Comrade Stalin is absolute enough to do his own deciding, and so is Chiang Kai-shek of China. They can be overthrown, but they can't be voted out of office, as Prime Minister Churchill can, any time, or have a Republican congress elected against 'em, as President Roosevelt can, at least theoretically, next November.

But President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill must hit on a mutually acceptable Anglo-American field commander, or they must have done so already, and picking him can't have been so easy.

Do we want a Briton put in charge of our troops on the European west front? Or is it likely that the British will enjoy having an American at the top of of their command there? The two guys unquestionably will have the sense to harmonize ostensibly. Nevertheless, if there's a little setback, it's safe betting that each will blame the other for it.

It's comparatively simple to assign an American Army officer to act as an adviser to Comrade Stalin. He's ONLY an adviser. It's still easier for an American to get away with it in China, because the Chinese ADMIT that they need plenty of military advice. That is, it WOULD have been easier in China, if our adviser there hadn't had such bad luck at it.

No Mere Adviser

But, anyway, the impending Anglo-American situation isn't going to call for a mere adviser-ship.

That second front will require a supreme head.

Will Britain agree to let us send such a chap over to their bank of the Atlantic?—to tell John Bull how to manage?—after Waterloo and similar events? Or will we acquiesce in an AEF, getting killed under British direction?

If the chap is nominated, tentatively indorsed mutually, and cleans up in figtime, it'll make the loveliest Anglo-American case of cohesion since the 1700 and 70's. He'll need to do it mighty fast, though, or, in the meantime, there'll be a lot of criss-cross criticism.

And, preliminarily, he's got to be agreed on.

Looking Back in Pickaway County

FIVE YEARS AGO

Dazzling display of fireworks was in store for Circleville visitors on the Fourth of July. The display was to begin at 10:30 p. m. and was to be fired on West Main street, just west of the N. & W. tracks.

A one o'clock luncheon followed by an afternoon of bridge, Mah Jongg and golf featured the opening party of the Summer for the women of the Pickaway Country club.

Thaddeus Cromley, 33, of near Ashville, was taken to Berger hospital for x-ray of a neck injury suffered in a fall from a load of hay.

10 YEARS AGO

Miss Lee Anderson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Anderson, who had been attending Office Training school, Columbus, entered the x-ray department of White Cross hospital where she was to be employed regularly while studying x-ray technic.

Members of the Improved Order of Red Men of approximately 50 tribes were to gather at Logan Elm state park, south of Circleville, on the evening of July 16 for a district gathering.

Walker H. Baughman was elected commander of Scioto Commandery Knights Templar No. 35 at the annual election.

25 YEARS AGO

Washington, D. C., was to be the scene of the drawing for the 1,500,000 men from which the first national army was to be selected through conscription.

Miss Sally Yates, who at the age of 87 had seen our country successfully through two wars, took out a $5 membership in the Circleville Red Cross society. Membership in the society numbered 899.

Mrs. Cooper, widow of Rev. H. B. Cooper, Methodist minister of London, was paid $8,500 by the B. & O. railway company for the death of her husband which occurred at Derby. A train struck a motor hearse in which the minister and undertaker were riding at the head of a funeral procession, causing his death.

BREAK FOR SERVICEMEN

BOSTON—All the comforts of home are afforded soldiers and sailors who avail themselves of police station facilities. In addition to the free beds, twoles and soap furnished to servicemen, Police Commissioner Joseph F. Timility is now providing safety razors, new blades and brushless shaving cream for that last-minute polish before date time.

STARS SAY—

For Friday, July 3

THE ASTRAL combination intervening in this day's affairs makes for a close attention to the inner meaning of all that occurs, with keen analysis and insight into transpiring events in the professional as well as social, domestic affectional and artistic realm. A serious note may undertone these with an accent on the matter of duty and obligation, on tenets of law and order. Especial caution is recommended in all pertaining to writings, speech, correspondence, travel and change, since swift and ill-considered moves might involve loss and regret. With care there should be prosperity and happiness.

If It Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is may find themselves confronted by a year in which their own devotion to duty, principle and personal obligations, sustained by keen analysis, logic and forthrightness, may result in enduring progress, prosperity and personal happiness. Integrity, vigilance with speech and writings as well as caution in change, travel and business transactions are urged. Over clever and quick moves bespeak loss and regret, with reactions on private satisfactions. There may be tokens of appreciation and love from elderly females.

A child born on this day should have many kindly, syampathetic and high principled traits which should assure it personal happiness. Laxity as to speech and writings should be avoided. Rigid business tenets should be inculcated.

Belgium is the most densely populated country in Europe. Its 653 persons per square mile is 21 times greater than the population density ratio of the U. S.

Matrons, Patrons Social Event Splendid Success

Past Officials At Hamilton Home Thursday

Past Matrons' and Patrons' Circle of the Order of the Eastern Star was delightfully entertained at a social session Thursday at the home of Miss Marie L. Hamilton, West High street. Mrs. E. S. Shane was assisting hostess at the affair which was arranged in place of the annual June picnic.

Colorful garden flowers made a lovely setting for the party which was marked by an excellent attendance.

Miss Hamilton entertained the group with a fine showing of her own camera work including flower studies, views of Niagara Falls and of the Sky Line drive in color.

Miss Hamilton and Mrs. Shane served light refreshments and an informal social hour was enjoyed.

The short business session was in charge of Mrs. George H. Bentley, president. The group discussed the purchase of a Defense Bond before recessing for the Summer.

Tentative plans were discussed for a picnic.

Mrs. N. E. Reichelderfer, Mrs. Bentley, Mrs. Emma Fox and Mrs. Irene B. Newton, organization officers, will be members of the social committee for the September session.

St. Paul Ladies' Society

Sixty-five were present Wednesday at the meeting of St. Paul Ladies' Aid society in the parish hall. The business meeting and devotionals were in charge of Mrs. Ralph Fisher, president.

The mission study included a review of the book, "Christian Roots of Democracy", by Mrs. Harold Fisher.

Other articles were read and discussed by Mrs. E. H. E. Winterhoff and other society members.

The program arranged by Mrs. Curtis Fisher included vocal music by the Porshet sisters; accordion solo, "Liebestraum", Ann Klingensmith; vocal solo, "Johnny Doughboy", Rosemary Fisher; reading, "Independence Day", Mrs. Harley Hines and piano solo, "In the Sweet Bye and Bye", Mrs. Emerson Brown.

Assisting hostesses were Mrs. Wayne Brown, Mrs. Charles Brown, Mrs. C. J. Truex and Mrs. George Swayer.

The next meeting, August 5, will be in the parish hall where an evening picnic will be held. Fathers and sons will be honor guests at the affair.

The Rev. Mr. Winterhoff will be program chairman and the men will provide the program numbers.

Mrs. Ralph Fisher will serve as general chairman.

U. B. Missionary Picnic

The annual picnic meeting of the Women's Missionary association of the United Brethren church was held Thursday at the home of Mrs. Frank Baker of Town street. A delightful cooperative dinner was served at 6:30 p. m. on the large screened porch. A social hour followed. Mrs. Edward McClarren of Circleville and Mrs. Glenn Rader, near Ashville, assisted Mrs. Baker in arrangements for the affair.

Mrs. John Kerns conducted the short business meeting. It was announced that the annual Missionary conference of the Southeast Ohio Branch of the United Brethren church would be held July 24 at the Stoutsville campgrounds.

Mrs. C. O. Kerns as program leader used "Every Christian has an individual responsibility" for her subject. Mrs. Russell Jones led the devotions.

Mrs. John Kerns reviewed the chapter in the study book, "The Christian Imperative." A solo, "When I Survey the Wondrous Cross", by Mrs. Frank Hawkes and prayers by Mrs. Abbie Gussman, Mrs. D. B. Klingensmith and Mrs. Ralph Long concluded the evening.

ASHVILLE

One of the occasional trips to "headquarters" here was made Thursday by the venerable Jerome Peters of St. Paul, getting close up now to the close of his 94th year of age. Of course when pupil and teacher meet with a little spare time to waste, old school days are most sure to come in for a hearing. When past, 70 years does not seem so long, but it has been all this time since this teacher Peters had for pupils, then on Loffer Hill, 54 of the best kiddies anywhere to be found. Couldn't make an exact count of the girls there then and now living, but of the boys, there are six of the 27 living. Yesterday evening one who knows for sure said, that this Mr. Peters has been a member of the Lithopolis Masonic lodge for an even seventy years. Charles Beery of near Marcy is sceretary of the order.

—Ashville—

One hundred and fifty auto stickers were sold at the local postoffice Thursday, making a total sale of 920 which in dollars counts $4,600. Postmaster Smith sold war stamps for the month of June amounting to $490 and war bonds $731.25. No carrier action on the rural mail routes tomorrow. Office open part time.

—Ashville—

The usual fireworks display for the evening of the 4th has been dispensed with. And it is hoped there will be no other kind of "fireworks" to dispose of.

—Ashville—

A general roundup with all the touching up needed here and there is the order today. Hundreds of pounds of the choicest fish to obtain are all iced in storage awaiting the final order. Plenty hamburger too, if that's the order. It's your day off and Ashville Day has been made especially for you. Be with us.

MIRACULOUS ESCAPE

'CRIME' ANNIVERSARY

"Crime Doctor" delivered its 100th consecutive weekly broadcast via CBS last Sunday night and Director Jack Johnstone credits the authenticity of the dramas with promoting the program's continued success. An incident to illustrate the care with which the show is treated occurred after Sunday's late repeat broadcast when the cast had prepared a surprise party for Johnstone and Author Max Marcin. Director and playwright thanked the actors for the idea but called off the party because they had to rise at six the next morning. Explained Johnstone: "We have to visit the State Home For Boys in Jamesburg, N. J., to get script material, and we won't keep superintendent Fred Fitch waiting."

NATIONAL LEAGUE'S BEST PICKED TO PLAY AGAINST AMERICANS

Some of the National League All-Stars selected to play the American league aggregation in New York's inter-league game, Monday, July 6, are shown above. Besides those pictured, the managers picked Frank McCormick, Johnny Vandermeer and Paul Derringer of the Reds; Eddie Miller of the Braves, Arky Vaughn, Mickey Owen, Joe Medwick and Whit Wyatt of the Dodgers; Willard Marshal and Cliff Melton of the Giants; Terry Moore, Jimmy Brown, Enos Slaughter and Walker Cooper of Cards.

RED BIRDS TIE LOUISVILLE '9' IN THIRD PLACE

COLUMBUS, July 3—With first place well taken care of for some time to come by the Kansas City Blues, it appeared today that the nearest thing to a race in the American association was for second position.

The Blues had little trouble disposing of the Indianapolis Indians 10-2, yesterday, to stretch their lead to five full games over the second place Milwaukee brewers who lost to Louisville, 6-2.

Close on the heels of the Brewers are the third place Columbus Red Birds and Louisville, both six games behind the Blues and Minneapolis trailing the pace-setting Blues by six and a half games. The Red Birds triumphed over Minneapolis, 2-0, yesterday adding insult to injury, the Toledo Mud Hens dropped St. Paul deeper and deeper into the association cellar when they copped 8-6. The Hens now are 12 games out of first place and the Saints are fifteen and a half games behind the leading Blues.

Only games scheduled today are Toledo at Columbus; St. Paul at Minneapolis and Milwaukee at Kansas City.

Durocher and McCarthy Set On Their Lineups

By JACK MAHON

NEW YORK, July 3 — Having consulted his favorite crystal ball, several different kinds of tea leaves and a couple of palm readers—in between quick glances at his racing form — Leo (the Lip) Durocher broken down and admitted today that this is the probable starting line-up for the National league all-stars for their annual picnic with the American league's best at the Polo grounds Monday;

Brown, St. Louis, 2b; Vaughan, Brooklyn, 3b; Reiser, Brooklyn, cf; Mize, New York, 1b; Ott, New York, rf; Medwick, Brooklyn, lf; Miller, Boston, ss, Owen or Cooper c. The pitcher will not be revealed till game time but most believe that Mort Cooper of the Cards will get the nod. If he does, of course, his brother, Walker, will be behind the plate.

If any one of the other favored hurlers, Cliff Melton of the Giants; Claude Passeau of the Cubs; Johnny Vander Meer of the Reds or Whit Wyatt of the Dodgers is selected by Mastermind Durocher it is believed Mickey Owen will start behind the plate.

The alternate omelet prepared by this famous baseball chef consists of Herman, Brooklyn 2b; Elliott, Pirates, 3b; T. Moore, Cards, cf; McCormick, Reds, 1b; Slaughter, Cards, rf; Litwhiler, Philadelphia, lf; Reese, Brooklyn, ss; the catcher and pitcher.

So determined is the National league to win this tenth annual star-studded classic that President Ford Frick has requested the various managers to rest the five most probable pitchers the two days before the game, if possible.

CHICAGO, July 3 — Only Ken Keltner, third baseman for the Cleveland Indians, could be certain today of starting for the American league team in the annual all-star game Monday night in New York.

Manager Joe McCarthy of the New York Yankees, who will pilot the junior circuit aggregation against the National leaguers, filed his selections here with President Will Harridge of the American league.

With the exception of Keltner and the starting pitcher, at least two possibilities were listed for each position. McCarthy said his choice for the mound "will come later."

McCarthy's choices and the probable batting order follow:

Right field—Dominic DiMaggio, Boston, Stanley Spence, Washington.

Shortstop — Lou Boudreau, Cleveland, Phil Rizzuto, New York.

Center field — Joe DiMaggio, Tommy Henrich, both of New York.

First base — George McQuinn, St. Louis, Rudy York, Detroit.

Second base — Joe Gordon, New York, Bobby Doerr, Boston.

Third base—Keltner.

Catcher—Bill Dickey and Warren Rosar, both of New York, and George Tebbetts, Detroit.

Pitcher—?.

SOX AND INDIANS GIVE $33,352 TO WAR FUND

CHICAGO, July 3 — A new American league mark for contribution to the war effort was recorded today as $33,352 was turned over to the Army and Navy Relief funds as a result of the benefit doubleheader last night in Comiskey park.

The highest previous contribution in the junior circuit was established May 23 when 12,216 persons paid in $13,221 to watch Philadelphia tackle Boston in bean town.

In the first half of the twin bill last night that attracted 29,662 fans, the Great Lakes naval training station team walloped Chanute field Army Nine, 7 to 1. The Cleveland Indians took a 7-5 measure of the Chicago White Sox in the nightcap.

Despite the record gate receipts, the contest fell far short of equaling the National league high for money turned over to the war relief agencies in a single program. At Brooklyn on May 7, the Dodgers and Giants drew $59,859.

SOME CHANCE TURNS ON SPEED TO WIN HANDICAP

CHICAGO, July 3—Owner Warren Wright and Trainer Ben Jones commiserated with each other today on their decision to withdraw Some Chance from the $50,000 Arlington Classic stakes which will be run at Arlington park three weeks from tomorrow.

After the showing of Some Chance yesterday in the $5,000 added Northwestern handicap at Arlington, they agreed maybe they made a big mistake in dropping the thoroughbred's name from the list of entries for the $50,000 event when the May 1 payment was due.

Some Chance not only turned back a fashionable field in the Northwestern, but reeled off the seven furlongs only four fifths of a second slower than the world record set at 1:22 by Clang at Arlington in 1935. First Prize ran second, a length and a half back and Daily Trouble, a 54 to 1 shot, was third. The winner paid $13.40, $6.60 and $5.20.

The withdrawal of Some Chance left Sun Again, Wishbone and Col. Teddy, a supplementary entry, to represent Wright's Calumet farm in the classic.

LUTHERAN TEAM WINNER IN CHURCH LOOP TILT

Lutheran softballers won a 13 to 6 decision Thursday evening over the Catholic team in the Church league, scoring in all innings except the second.

RED SOX MEET YANKS IN FIRST CRUCIAL SERIES

Clean Sweep Of Three Contests Would Tie American League

By International News Service

Boston and New York square off today in the beginning of a three-game series that may hold the answer to the eventual winner of the American league pennant. The Red Sox now are trailing the Yankees by three games, but a full-time win the current engagement would give the crimson hose an even break as the season hurries by the Fourth of July.

Baseball's time-worn adage says that the team leading the race when the sun sets on Independence Day will win the bunting.

At any rate, Art Fletcher directing the Yankees, in the absence of the ailing Joe McCarthy, will fling Spud Chandler against the swirling Sox. In return, manager Joe Cronin, of the Sox, is expected to send Charlie Wagner out to do the crucial mound duties for him.

Ted Williams, fined $250 yesterday by Cronin for loafing on the job as left fielder for the Red Sox, may be the gent to turn the tide for his mates. Williams is repentant following being disciplined and he may go to bat with the full fury of the swing that allowed him to hit .406 last season.

In the only game played yesterday afternoon, Detroit climbed aboard St. Louis for a 5 to 4 victory. Johnny Niggeling suffered his seventh loss of the season, while Al Benton scored his sixth triumph.

In a game staged for the Army and Navy relief funds, a crowd of 29,662 paid $33,352 to see the Cleveland Indians defeat the Chicago White Sox 7 to 5 in a night game at Chicago. The Indians battered Joe Humphries and Joe Haynes for 13 hits to score their victory while Chubby Dean held the White Sox to three hits before blowing up in the ninth.

The scheduled games between New York and Philadelphia and Washington and Boston were postponed because of weather.

In the National league Johnny Beazley pitched the Cardinals to their third straight victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates in a night game at St. Louis. In winning his seventh victory of the season 3 to 1 Beazley didn't permit a single walk and allowed only five hits.

The New York-Boston game was the only other game scheduled and it was postponed because of the weather.

Mayor's Veto May Hit Council Action Revoking Street Light Order

GORDON WANTS PUBLIC REACTION TO LEGISLATION

Question Of Byron Eby's Place In Official Family Studied

STATUTE BEING QUOTED

Horn Raises Subject Of Legal Residence; Tie Ballot Possible

A new development was announced in the street lighting situation Friday, when Mayor Ben Gordon declared he may veto a resolution of council voted Wednesday evening which refused lighting of the streets by revoking a resolution passed last week. Gordon has the power to veto the measure, he declared, and has announced that such action would be taken in the next several days if the public expresses a desire that lights be turned on.

Gordon has 10 days in which he may sign the legislation or veto it and he is holding off any decision pending suggestions from the citizenry.

The mayor said: I was put into this office to serve the people and if they inform me that they wish the lights to be turned on, I shall veto the act of council."

If the act is knocked out by the mayor it would mean bringing the former resolution, authorizing turning the lights on, back into force and the necessity of passing an appropriation ordinance before the final word could be given. It would be necessary to have a two-thirds majority in council to over-ride the mayor's veto and, under present voting of the members, this majority could not be obtained.

Money Measure Vital

If the former resolution is brought back into effect it would still be necessary for council to approve an appropriation ordinance authorizing the expenditure. Such a ballot would require four votes or a tie of three to three in which case the council president would have the determining say so. There is little hope that four members will vote for the fund measure but action is expected on the issue of Byron Eby, Gibisonville, and his status so far as membership in council is concerned. Councilman Boyd Horn made mention of the Eby case at Wednesday's confab but no action was taken.

Horn and other members of the city government have called attention to Section 4207 of the General Code of Ohio which reads as follows;

"Councilmen at large shall have resided in their respective cities and councilmen from wards shall have resided in their respective wards, for at least one year next preceding their election. Each member of council shall be an elector of the city and shall hold no other public office or employment except that of notary public or a member of a state militia and shall not be interested in any contract with the city. A member who ceases to possess any of the qualifications here-in contained or who removes from his ward, if elected from a ward, or from the city, if elected from the city at large, shall forthwith forfeit his office."

Under this regulation, which is still in effect, Eby, if proved to be a legal resident of Gibisonville instead of Circleville, will be removed from his voting capacity and the measures entered on the floor would be locked in a tie ballot. In this case President Goeller would have to decide the issue and he has gone on record as being for any measure that upholds re-lighting the city streets, that have been blackened in an economy measure since December 29, 1941.

However, the councilman claims eh maintains a residence here.

HEARD WAR GOING ON, PATIENT FLED HOSPITAL

Claude Brown, who fled Thursday evening from the Veterans' Hospital, Chillicothe, was located on North Court street Friday at 6:25 a. m. by Circleville police. The 50-year-old man had ran away from the institute because he "heard there was a war going on and I'm going to enlist".

He was on his way to Columbus for enlistment at the time of his arrest. He protested being returned saying that he had a discharge from the hospital.

A copy of a letter found in the aged man's pocket revealed that he had written a paper giving him a discharge to enlist and signed in 1986 by Santa Claus, president and general manager, and Abe Lincoln.

He was returned to his ward Friday by officials from the U. S. project.

Blast Experts Ready to Blow Up Vital Oil Wells in Middle East

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON, July 3 — As Marshal Rommel's army eats farther into Egypt, U. S. oil experts face the unpleasant possibility of blowing up wells producing millions of barrels of oil in Mosul, Iran and Iraq.

For the chief strategy of the Allies has been to cut Hitler off from oil—oil in the Caucacus, oil in the Near and Middle East, meanwhile bombing his oil supplies in Rumania. So if Rommel's forces get near these oil fields, they must be wrecked at all cost.

And what frankly worries U. S. oil experts is that they may not be destroyed. It is generally known that British oil wells in Rumania fell into Hitler's hands in complete working order. U. S. oilmen had been sent all the way from Texas for the express purpose of touching them off with nitroglycerine. But the British decided Rumania was neutral, so nothing was done.

In Java, however, very careful preparations were made. This time there was no neutrality to worry anyone. Japan had attacked, and there were about two months in which to prepare the dynamiting of the Dutch East Indies oil wells.

But this time, though it never leaked out, something happened. The Standard-Vacuum wells were completely destroyed—in the face of enemy machine gun fire. American oil equipment and property valued at $150,000,000 went up in smoke. But the Shell Company's wells were not wrecked. Later the British reported that this was "due to a slight error in judgment."

Naturally, therefore, the fate of the Near Eastern wells causes concern. Most of them are British, and this time no one wants another error in judgment, no matter how slight. For such an error would put millions of barrels of oil immediately into the hands of Hitler.

SUPREME U. S. COMMANDER

British failures and errors in judgment have brought increasing pressure here for an American supreme command over the United Nations.

One error earlier in the war which has served to bring this point home was the case of the barges loaded with dynamite with which the British planned to block the Danube at the Iron Gate, thus preventing Hitler from sending submarines and other water-borne military supplies into the Balkans.

The two barges were loaded with dynamite, and everything was perfectly planned except for one thing. The British insisted on pacing up and down on the decks of the barges in the daylight to get their usual daily exercise, instead of staying below all day and coming up at night.

So the Germans saw them, reported suspicious-looking sailors to the Rumanians, and the barges were seized. So now the Danube, unblocked, is an important means by which war supplies are transported to the Black Sea against Russia, and perhaps will be used later against Turkey and the Near East.

Note: When the Nazis concealed their troops aboard merchant ships to make their surprise conquest of Norway, no suspicious characters took constitutionals in the daylight.

KING PETER

After his speech in the House chamber, 18-year-old King Peter of Yugoslavia stood in line for almost an hour shaking hands with members of Congress, and demonstrated that he was both a smooth politician and a lover of American jazz.

When tall, white-haired Representative Ewing Thomason of Texas introduced himself, the young monarch asked, "Where did you say you were from?"

"Texas," repeated Thomason.

Peter's eyes lighted up.

"Oh!" he grinned, " 'Deep in the Heart of Texas.' "

"You proved yourself quite an authority on world affairs by that fine speech you made here today," beamed Thomason, "but I didn't know you also kept up on our popular music."

"Oh, I am a great admirer of your music," replied Peter, "but I would have known about your state even if that song hadn't been written. I used to hear a lot about Texas in my country. I would like very much to visit Texas."

U. S. PRISONERS IN BATAAN

Ex-Undersecretary of the Interior Jack Dempsey has taken up with the American Red Cross the problem of getting a Red Cross representative in Manila to look out for U. S. prisoners from Bataan and Corregidor.

So far, the Japs have not permitted a Swiss Red Cross representative in Manila, though they have admitted Swiss representatives to Tokyo, Shanghai and Hongkong.

No excuse has been given by the Japs for not permitting a Swiss representative in Manila, but U. S. officials presume it is because they don't want anyone from the outside world to see what is going on there.

Meanwhile, however, the treatment of U. S. prisoners in Japan and China is reported to be good. The Swiss representatives make regular reports, state that American prisoners have no complaints, that sheets on beds are changed frequently, and that married men are allowed to go to see their wives every week-end.

Note: If the Japs permit a Swiss representative to go to Manila, the American public can send cigarettes, chocolate, etc. to prisoners. But it is impossible now.

FISCHER TAKES ROTARY GAVEL FOR NEXT YEAR

Installation of Frank Fischer as new president of the Rotary club, was the main feature of the Thursday meeting. Outgoing President Harry Heffner reviewed the club's activity during the last year and emphasized varied projects which the group has participated in during his office.

"One of the outstanding features of our club this year," he said, "has been the annual 'Institute of International Understanding' which goes a long way to aid in a club ideal of promoting international good-will between all nations."

Programs during the last year have been varied under the leadership of Dr. G. D. Phillips, and Mr. Heffner expressed delight in the educational value of the entire series. After reviewing the financial report of the club, he turned the gavel over to Mr. Fischer who will preside for the coming fiscal year.

He then reported on the activity of the international meeting of Rotarians at Toronto to which he was the local delegate. After explaining an 11 day boat ride from Chicago to that city he brought out the serious housing problem that the 17,000 confab members caused in the Canadian city. Several hundred of the delegates lived on the transport boat.

Many interesting talks were made by degelates from all over the world and Mr. Fischer laid emphasis on several interesting topics discussed. One was a talk "Save That Boy". Another issue which he reported to the group was the decision that all Rotary clubs should do whatever they feel is beneficial to their local community in respect to national defense.

Thousands of soldiers were stationed in the convention city and every place was a bee-hive of activity during the days of the meeting.

Judge Meeker Terwilliger also attended the conference.

At the meeting, Dr. John Spindler of Ashville became the forty-sixth member. Among other visitors was Ray Alter, new manager of the telephone company, who was a member of the Wilmington Rotary club before coming here, and who expects to transfer his mebership to the local group.

Church Briefs

Annual homecoming of the Robtown United Brethren church has been changed from the first to second Sunday in July which comes this year on July 12. The following program will be the order of the day; Sunday school at 9:30 with the superintendent Mrs. Elzie Brooks in charge; this will be followed by preaching services at 10:30. At 12:30 there will be a bounteous basket dinner for all present, given in the church parish house. Every body bring a basket full of good things to eat. The afternoon service will begin at 2:00.

Rev. O. F. Gibbs of Circleville will be the speaker of the afternoon. There will also be some special songs and instrumental music, to which we invite you and your friends.

Sunday sermon topic of the Rev. D. V. Whitenack at the Mount Pleasant Methodist church will be "Can We Win the Booze Way?" The WSCS of the church will meet Tuesday afternoon at 1:30 at the church.

First quarterly conference of the Tarlton Methodist church will begin July 16.

Dr. H. E. Bright will preach at the Shadeville Methodist church, Friday evening, July 24, at 8:15. This will be the first quarterly conference of the year. Dr. Bright is new district superintendent of Methodist churches in this community and comes from Cincinnati. His new home is in Lancaster.

Annual camp meeting of the United Brethren church at Stoutsville will be held this year from July 21 to 26, Dr. Dewey Whitwell, Nashville, Tennessee, will be the main evangelist with many county residents interested in the appearance of Rev. Charles Bowman, Westerville, who is conference superintendent. The Rev. Mr. Bowman is a native of East Ringgold and his parents still maintain a residence there.

The Rev. F. G. Strickland will preach Sunday afternoon at 2:30 in the Westfall school auditorium. His subject will be "All Nations".

ALL SHOPPING MUST BE DONE FRIDAY NIGHT

City stores will remain open Friday evening until 9 o'clock and will be closed all day Saturday as a part of the Fourth of July celebration.

All residents are warned to do their week end shopping Friday.

There will be no scheduled activity in Circleville to observe the holiday.

MOTHER OF SIX ASKS DIVORCE AND ALIMONY

Mrs. Cleo Chamberlain filed suit Thursday for divorce from Carl Chamberlain. The couple lives in the Stoutsville area and was married on May 22, 1929. She asked that she be granted a divorce, custody of six minor children and a restraining order, pending hearing of the gross neglect charges. The children are Ermaka, 22 months; Terry, 4; Sharon, 7; Vesta, 8; Harold, 10; and Wanda, 12. A temporary restraining order has been granted the plaintiff, who also asks for alimony to support herself and the children.

TEACHERS' MEET DELAYED

Teachers' meeting at Trinity Lutheran church, scheduled Friday evening, has been postponed.

SCIOTO RIVER FALLING

After reaching a high Thursday of 6.91 feet, the Scioto river Friday fell to 4.03 feet and is quickly returning to its normal guage. Streams and the river remain muddy and will keep a lot of fishermen from casting locally over the Fourth.

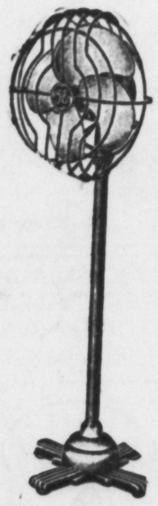
Shhh! The Weather's a Military Secret But It is No Secret That

AN ELECTRIC FAN GIVES A LOT OF COOL COMFORT



Perhaps you can't do a great deal about the weather, but electric fans, properly placed, will do a lot towards making you more comfortable.

In using an electric fan, there are a few things to keep in mind. Don't let the fan blow directly on you—a gentle movement of the air in the room will do a lot more good. Use large enough fans to give adequate air circulation—you can't expect a tiny fan to do a job in a great big room. An oscillating fan is more efficient in stirring up the air, too.

Placing fans properly makes them more effective. In living and dining rooms place fan 3 to 5 feet above the floor and 8 to 10 feet from occupants. In the kitchen place about 1 foot above head height and direct toward work surfaces. For night cooling place fan in open window facing room.

Proper care of your fan is important now that there are few new fans available. Be sure the fan is kept clean and properly lubricated. Watch the cord that it does not become kinked or broken. If the fan develops a rattle or the blades do not turn freely, have it checked by a serviceman.
